IDEMIA Enables Acceptance of State IDs and Driver's Licenses in Apple Wallet at TSA Airport Checkpoints

Enablement of state IDs and driver's licenses in Apple Wallet will offer users a fast, convenient, and secure way to present their ID, starting with select TSA security checkpoints in U.S. airports.

IDEMIA is excited to work with Apple and the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) to implement for the first time the acceptance of state IDs and driver's licenses in Apple Wallet at Phoenix Sky Harbor Airport. U.S. citizens and permanent residents in participating states can now add their driver's licenses and state IDs in Apple Wallet and securely present their ID without needing to take out their physical identification document. IDEMIA is playing a crucial role in enabling this technology as the supplier of the TSA's Credential Authentication Technology (CAT) readers. Driver's licenses and state IDs in Apple Wallet will be rolling out to citizens in participating U.S. states, and be accepted at additional U.S. TSA airport checkpoints in the future.

The TSA will be the first to accept driver's license and state ID in Apple Wallet at select TSA airport security checkpoints. Users will be able to simply tap their iPhone or Apple Watch to TSA CAT readers and confirm the information requested by the TSA using Face ID or Touch ID.

Driver's licenses and state IDs can be added to Apple Wallet in just a few simple steps: users can tap the + button at the top of the screen in Apple Wallet, select "Driver's License or State ID" and follow the on-screen instructions to start the set-up and verification process.

Driver's license and state ID in Apple Wallet takes full advantage of the privacy and security already built into iPhone and Apple Watch. Users' identity data is encrypted and protected against tampering and theft.

> We are excited to work with Apple and TSA on the next step of safe and seamless identity verification. This leverages the best of IDEMIA's expertise in the field of identity technologies and credentials digitization.

IDEMIA has been supporting the TSA since 2013, as a provider of enrollment services for TSA PreCheck® and other TSA programs. Since 2019, the company also currently supplies the TSA CAT to confirm the identity and flight information of travelers in 120+ airport locations. TSA is also getting ready with IDEMIA to deploy innovative enhancements to CAT that will enable a touchless experience and acceptance of Mobile ID.
